

Reddit.com Commenting With Link to Client's Related Blog Post

https://www.reddit.com/r/povertyfinance/comments/ayrlah/my_family_is_getting_evicted/

Niche: Law / Sub-niche: stopping evictions

reddit Home Popular Search r/povertyfinance

21 new posts for you from r/povertyfinance and 8 other communities See posts

povertyfinance

Posts

Posted by u/The_PrinceOfMilk 1 month ago

11 My family is getting evicted

My family of 5, i'm the kid, is getting evicted because we were two months late on rent and we have no options currently. Is there anything we can do?

22 Comments Share Save 100% Upvoted

What are your thoughts? Log in or Sign up LOG IN SIGN UP

SORT BY BEST

amyra2005 18 points · 1 month ago

Call local charities churches etc alot of them help with rent

Reply Share Report Save

amyra2005 10 points · 1 month ago

Also, eviction is a legal term, so was it actually filed in court or are you just being threatened

Reply Share Report Save

The_PrinceOfMilk 5 points · 1 month ago

I think we may actually i'm not 100%, it was 3 day notice that said pay or quit

Reply Share Report Save

The relevant comment we placed is below

reddit Home Popular Search r/povertyfinance

21 new posts for you from r/povertyfinance and 8 other communities See posts

thelaineybelle 2 points · 1 month ago

First off sending you hugs! You're a dear and your mom is awesome! It sucks to feel so powerless when a bad parent screws you over and threatens your stability on all fronts. Is there a good friend/family you can stay with for a while? You know, just to take the stress off your mom for a bit while she gets things settled. I had a friend stay with me for month in high school while her family hit a bad patch. In the meantime locate your birth certificate and social security card. Don't lose vital documents during a transition. And read all the other comments about charities and support. Stay strong and don't do anything foolish. Just stay focused on school, maybe picking up a part time job, and bettering your future. It's gonna hurt like hell for a while, but dig deep and utilize every opportunity. Good luck!!!

Reply Share Report Save

RebelliousPlatypus 1 point · 1 month ago

Depending on your state, you can contact a township trustee. Here in Indiana they can pay rent and help with utilities. Look for something similar in your area.

Reply Share Report Save

debrajohnson86 1 point · 1 day ago

Sadly, your landlord may try to evict you for repeated late payments or for non-payment of rent. Most landlords do not send eviction notices if once in a while tenants are several days late with the rent. Even if a landlord sends an eviction notice, you may be able to stop the eviction by paying the rent you owe but I've learned some from this site: <https://www.eviction.com/category/stop-eviction/> you can still find another ways/helps out there.

Reply Share Report Save